

the democratic process is best served by restrictions that prevent the takeover of media by any single entity. We as citizens are already suffering from a lack of free and open expression and would suffer yet another setback to our cherished democracy if rules curbing monopoly are relaxed further.